

D.C. Museum of the Bible Itinerary - 03/28

7:45-8:30am - Initial Check-in/registration, maybe eat breakfast?

- Hand out tickets
- Run over itinerary
- Check-in all attendees

8:30-9:00am - Walk to Penn Train Station

- Make sure we are walking out of Peabody's front doors at 8:30am at the latest

9:00-9:30am - Walk down to the platform and wait for train no. 685

- Train may leave up to 5 minutes early so we must be at the platform no later than 9:15

9:30-10:30am - Ride train to Union Station in D.C.

- The train is scheduled to arrive exactly at 10:30am

10:30-11:15am - Walk to the museum of the Bible from Union Station

- Quickest path goes through the park next to the Senate building
- If the demonstration blocks the path, proceed to First Street NE and walk south until we get to Independence Street SEnd take a right.

11:15am-1:15pm - Explore the general admission Museum

- The exhibits included with standard admission generally take 3-5 hours to explore

1:15-2:00pm - Lunch Break

- Leave Museum to grab a quick lunch from a restaurant nearby/eat prepacked lunch for those who brought one
- Nearby restaurants
 - Potbelly
 - My own Pizza
 - 2 Sisters deli
 - Z Burger
 - Manna *(Located in the Museum but recommended for large groups to eat outside of the museum because of how busy it might be)

2:00-4:00pm - Finish exploring main Museum

4:00-5:00pm - Start exploring the extra Paid 2 exhibits

5:00-5:15pm - regroup at main entrance

5:15-6:15 - Free time to explore the surrounding area/get dinner

* If we finish exploring both the regular and paid exhibits before the estimated time, we can use the additional time to walk around and see nearby landmarks as long as we get to Union Station no later than 7:00pm.

6:15-7:00pm - Walk to Union Station

- Take alternative route if necessary

7:00-7:30pm - Walk down to our platform for train 497

- Train may leave up to 5 minutes early
- If we have extra time purchase a snack

7:30-8:30pm - Board train number 497 on route to Penn Station in Baltimore city

8:30-8:45pm - Walk from Penn Station back to the Peabody campus